In 1885 this residence was shown on the Gilroy map surrounded by trees just as it is today. First Street was then the edge of the city and this residence in a block of development was in a group away from most of the city. Obviously, the home of an early settler, most likely the entire grouping was inhabited by German immigrants. This is the last pre 1900 structures on this block and is in need of repair.