This two-story house features an offset gable roofline, enclosed eaves, and wide clapboard siding. Its decorations include a plain frieze and a dormer which has a small gable of its own. The porch is enclosed with a series of 9 pane windows. Originally a two-story pioneer of regular form, this structure has grown to incorporate the elements of style popular during the periods of its growth. The crown shelf that frames the lower windows dates the original construction within the Greek Revival period. Additional window treatments show the structure was enlarged at the turn of the century and as late as 1911.
